

Dear Tim

Anna asked me to send one of these invitations to you - So here it is. It would be pleasant to see you in Newton.

Thanks for the address of Iulueta, which I have sent on to Salvador.

With love

Dr. Salvador Roquet was Public Health Physician in charge of the program which eradicated Yellow Fever in Mexico. He founded the Albert Schweitzer Association, which served Mexican Indian medical needs and also founded a school based on the principles of A. S. Neil, and out of which the Instituto de Psicosintesis ultimately developed.

As a psychiatrist Dr. Roquet has combined western methodology with the wisdom of Mexican Indian Shamans. His treatment modality is based primarily on Freudian principles and this synthesis allows him to go far deeper than traditional Freudian techniques with greater economy.

The Albert Schweitzer Association is organized to spread information regarding Dr. Roquet's work and theories as well as to facilitate his workshops and lectures in this country.

Walter Clark, P.H.D. and Richard Ingrassi, M.D. will be on hand to discuss Dr. Roquet's technique.

30% of all sales will be donated to the benefit for Dr. Roquet.
